Two-Day Seminar for World Language Teachers

Developing Global Competence in World Language Classrooms

Redefining Possibilities for Learning Languages

Professional Development in Inspirational Settings

The two-day retreat format is an invitation to rethink how we teach and what we teach.

Insights from engaging sessions will show you how to teach global competency content in the target language.

Allow yourself space in a place where you can reflect on the science and art of teaching. Restore. Rejuvenate. Sharpen your professional saw. Build a local professional network.

Earn licensure renewal hours or the option to earn one graduate semester credit from Hamline University, Saint Paul.

What teachers say about this seminar...

- The most amazing, eye-opening, relevant and useful seminar I have attended in 17 years of teaching!
- Your enthusiasm was boundless and you are a wonderfully talented entertainer.
- You have given me so many tools and inspirations.

Redefining Possibilities for Learning Languages

Benefits of Attending

- Demonstrated, step-by-step explanations of classroom strategies to accelerate the language acquisition process based on neuroscience
- Innovative techniques for teaching global competency content such as geography, history, biography and current events
- Learn how to build background knowledge starting in the earliest levels so students can better understand complex nonfiction in the upper levels

Globally-competent language students
